ABOUT TOBACCO.

Bad Roads and Freezing Weather Checks Receipts.

Good Sales of Loose Weed Both Sale Days of This Week.

The bad roads and the very cold and continuous unfavorable weather has had the effect of lessening the delivery of loose tobacco for the past two weeks and as a result the sales have not been quite so large as they were before the freeze. Woodridge & Co., however, had a good sale on Tuesday and again yesterday. Prices were good and farmers were well satisfied.

A very small per cent of the crop has yet been delivered, but as soon as the condition of the roads will permit the bulk of the crop will be brought in.

On the local break this week the warehouses made small offerings, but sales will not materially improve until better weather for handling the weed prevails.

Cask receipts this week were 245 hogsheads; receipts for the year, 775 hds.

INSANE WOMAN

Killed by Nephew, in Defense of His Mother.

Thomas Whitman, the 13-year-old son of Mrs. Sophia Whitman, who resides on East Seventh street, shot and killed his aunt, Miss Mary Phipps, Wednesday morning. The killing was done in defense of the youth's mother.

Miss Phipps was paroled last summer from the asylum, where she had been confined much of the time for fifteen years, and was living with her sister, Mrs. Whitman. She was not regarded as dangerous. Wednesday morning her insanity assumed a violent form, and she attacked her sister, who was feeble from a recent attack of typhoid fever, and began choking her.

Thomas Whitman went to his mother's aid, but was unable to cope with the maniacal fury of his aunt, who was rapidly choking her victim to death. The boy picked up a pistol which his mother had under the pillow on her bed and fired twice at close range. One ball entered Miss Phipps' breast and the other penetrated her brain.

The boy surrendered to the officers, but was not taken into custody, as the verdict of the coroner's jury exonerated him from any blame for the killing.

MOTION MADE

To Docket and Advance Meacham Injunction Suit.

Mr. Ray Files His Motion in Writing and Judge Pryor Files Objection.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 13.—A motion for the docketing and advancement of the appeal in the Meacham injunction case was made at today's session of the Court of Appeals by Mr. John W. Ray, of counsel for the plaintiff. Judge W. S. Pryor, of counsel for the Democratic State Executive Committee, was present in court and objected to the motion. Mr. Ray filed his motion in writing and Judge Pryor presented a written response.

Following is Mr. Ray's motion: "The appellant, C. M. Meacham, moves the court to docket this appeal and to advance the same for hearing and decision, and for reasons:

"The question involved is one of great public interest, involving the power and authority of the appellants to call and hold a State primary election for the purpose of nominating State officers, and presents no question as to the personal liability of the appellants for any sum of money claimed to be due and payable, no personal judgment being sought, only an injunction against the holding of the proposed primary."

"Our contention is that when the appeal was granted by the court below that that order transferred jurisdiction immediately to this court and no summons or notice of any kind is necessary to be given to appellants, but the case stands for hearing upon order of the court, made after notice of such motion be given to the appellants, which has been done here. For authority for this action of docketing and advancement, we cite the great public interest, and the rule in contested election cases based on the same ground."

Tompkins shot Brane the night of the 24th of last December with a 44-calibre Colt's revolver, killing him instantly. He then made his escape that night. Restored to Good Health by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

"I have taken six bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Miss M. Pyfe, of Orillia, Simcoe Co., Ontario, "and two bottles of the 'Pleasant Pellets' as you advised, for congestion of uterus, ovaries, and weakness, and can safely say that your medicine has been the means of restoring me to good health again, which I had not had for over three years, until taking your medicine. I thank you very much for your kind and prompt attention to my letter asking advice."

I Wish I Were Well.

How many a week, nervous woman finds that with riding involuntarily she becomes well. She sees friends and acquaintances entering into sports and games, or enjoying social pleasures from which she is shut out by weakness and sickness, and she says with a sigh of envy and regret, "I wish I were well." Wishing will not make any woman well, but from wishing one may pass to wishing that directly a woman will, to well she looks for the means by which health may be attained.

When a sick woman asks "How can I regain my health?" the next question she will ask is "How have other sick women been made healthy?" and to that question there is one unanimous answer from hundreds of thousands of healthy, happy women: "We were made healthy, made strong, we were sick and were made well by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription." The main idea of this medicine rests entirely upon its cures of womanly diseases. It has cured and is curing every form of womanly diseases curable by medicine; and very often it cures forms of womanly disease which local physicians pronounce incurable except by a surgical operation. Such is the case of Miss Ratz. It has been used in a great many other cases. "Favorite Prescription" cures in ninety-eight per cent. of cases, or in other terms, it cures forty-nine out of fifty women who give it a fair and faithful trial.

It would be worse than foolish to claim for "Favorite Prescription" such power to cure if that claim could not be supported by the living witnesses, the women who have been cured. The number of these witnesses is legion. There are women who were sufferers from irregularity—diseases caused by days of misery and prostration. To-day they are in the full enjoyment of health. There are other women who were suffering from wrenching drains; others still who writhed, scorched by the fire of inflammation, felt the pains of ulceration and knew the possibilities of suffering expressed in that familiar term, female weakness. To-day they are enjoying perfect womanly health. No more bearing-down pains. No more headache, backache, nervousness and sleeplessness. They are perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Careless women afford to neglect such a means of cure for womanly disease? If you are sick; if you suffer from irregularity, unhealthiness, inflammation, ulceration or female weakness, give "Favorite Prescription" a fair trial. There is only one chance in fifty that you fail of a complete cure. There is no chance that you fail of benefit, for "Favorite Prescription" always helps, and almost always cures.

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you are led to the purchase of "Favorite Prescription" because of its remarkable cures of other women, do not accept an unproved substitute.

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, cloth binding, is sent FREE on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing ONLY. For book in paper covers send only 21 stamps.

THE CRAFTY SULTAN.

Quarterly Report

QUARTERLY REPORT

Abdul Hamid Is a Statesman as Well as a Fanatic.

Believes himself in the Renaissance of Islam and in His Own Star—
Piling Up War Chest for Future War.

Under the somewhat misleading title of "The Crafty Sultan," H. C. Gamble, Jr., contributes to the Fortnightly Review a very remarkable and extremely interesting article upon Turkey and her future; or, more correctly, upon the Turks and their empire. It is to be desired that their present state and future aspirations. With the Macedonian problem which is the main subject of his article, Capt. Gamble deals briefly, his main points being that none of the Balkan states are fit to dominate the country, and that the Macedonians are the Moslems. He ridicules the idea of degenerate Greeks founding a new Byzantium via Macedonia, and scoffs at the idea of Italian pretensions in Albania. "Left singlehanded by the Moslems with Turkey in Albania or in Tripoli, the fiasco of the Abyssinian campaign would be repeated ten-fold."

It is the Turk who is ready on top in the Balkans and inclined to dominate.

There is an element of mystery in this chapter. The Turk is not an exacting race. When we remember how the Ottoman empire had dwindled away we are apt to think of the Turks as a dying people. But the Turks under the Ottoman Empire are a people who have a long history and a long future. The Moslem is a matter of faith, not of territory. One can well agree with many Moslems that the shrinkage of their power in Europe is not a misfortune. A deep-thinking Turk once remarked to Capt. Gamble: "It would be a bold man who would predict that the Moslem of the Christians would not give place in another 600 years to the less complicated belief in the one God of Mohammed." The 600 years represent the advantage of age which Christianity has over Islam.

To keep alive the faith in the One and Indivisible God is the set purpose of Sultan Abdul Hamid. (Has he understood the Renaissance of Islam?)

Of Abdul Hamid's life, he looks on Christianity as dead, while the spirit which conquered half the world is only dormant in his people.

To the hands of the omnipotent, one isolated sultan converge all the power of the empire, and he is the absolute ruler.

The empire is not a well-organized

Rising early, he works harder than a London accountant. For hours he receives a procession of secretaries, ministers, menials, flunkies, petitioners, emissaries from all parts of the world. When they leave, he is the last to kiss the sultan's hand, all shrug their business, and ill-pass it without asking anyone's advice, "that he has cognizance of everything that passes in his empire, impudent and loosely governed as it is."

The sultan's favorite theory in cross-examination is that, given enough rope any man will hang himself.

The sultan is, in fact, triumphant. He made fools of the French, the English, and he is the German as an ally.

He is a parsimonious man; he hates easily wasting money and paying salaries, and millions upon millions of his revenues remain unaccounted for and unexpended.

He is avaricious, but avaricious future use? (Capt. Gamble evidently thinks so.) And there is every reason why he should, for "Mohammedanism is as mighty a force in the world as Catholicism"—all the more so because the converts to Islam are more numerous than to any other religion.

A Dog That Rules a King.

Dignity, poorness and etiquette are particularly strong points with Edward VII.

He is a London correspondent of the Boston Herald, and was betide by light of the sun, and the moon, and the stars, the smallest district of dress department in the royal presence—that is, woe betide all such subjects save one.

The exception is Jack, a stray Irish terrier, who strolled into Marlborough house not long ago, adopted the king, who is now a very serious-looking charge of his majesty forthwith, and has helped to run the empire ever since.

It can be said without exaggeration that no one item of the news of the kind of Edward VII is so much worth reading as the case of Jack. His food and exercise are personally supervised by his royal court, and the general question of his health and conduct are a matter of personal concern to the king.

Remarkable Cure of Croup.

A LITTLE BOY'S LIFE SAVED.
I have a few words to say regarding Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I saved my little boy's life and I feel that I cannot praise it enough.

bought a bottle of it from A. E. Stover of Goshen, Ind., and when I got home with the poor boy could hardly breathe. I gave the medicine as directed every ten minutes until he 'threw up' and then again until he was going to choke to death. We had to use the plughole out of his mouth in great long strings. I am positive that if I had not got that bottle of cough medicine, my boy would not be on earth today.—JOEL DEMONT, Indianapolis, Ind.

FROM FRUIT HILL.

News Items Gathered for Kentuckian Readers by "Pat."

Fruit Hill, Jan. 12.—The party given at Mr. U. S. Barnes' Saturday night was well attended and highly enjoyed by all. Also the storm party at the residence of Mr. Bob Rogers the night before was a most pleasant social event.

Jewell Smith, who is attending South Kentucky College, is at home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Smith.

Miss Nannie Nixon is visiting her sister, Mrs. Maud Cannon, of this place.

Mr. Vi Smith, after a visit to friends in Madisonville, has returned home.

Winter is upon us in full blast and with it there is more business. Our clever merchant, Mr. Smith, can be seen behind the counter from daylight until dark.

Born to the wife of Mr. William Powell a twelve-pound boy. Bill says it's a New Year's present.

Unknown parties broke open the dwelling of Mr. George Pitzer, during his absence, and smashed all his furniture. They also destroyed the kitchen stove, cooking utensils and dishes. With a sledge hammer they then knocked a hole through the chimney. Such lawlessness should be checked.

PAT.

Don't Worry.

This is easier said than done, yet it may be of some help to consider the matter. If the cause is an external one, over which you have no control it is obvious that you will not help the matter in the least. On the other hand, if within your control you have only to act. When you have a cold and fear an attack of pneumonia, buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and use it judiciously and all cause for worry as to the outcome will quickly disappear. There is no danger of pneumonia when it is used.

Henry Yousey was before the grand jury at Frankfort two days this week. It is said that no detail of what he knows of the Goebel assassination conspiracy will be left out if it can be drawn from him by skillful questioning. What testimony Yousey gives is of vital importance to himself unless he can name other witnesses who will corroborate his statements. He being an alleged co-conspirator and murderer, his testimony cannot convict others unless corroborated. The commonwealth has a chain of testimony with one missing link, which, it is believed, Yousey will supply.

Other indictments are expected to follow Yousey's testimony. Other witnesses called by Yousey will likely be called to testify before the present grand jury.
